Pacific Hardware Company.

The Pacific Hardware Company, on Fort street, have just received a large lot of new goods of every description, as will be seen by an advertisement in another column of this paper. Goods in every line are kept constantly on hand, at the store, which are sold at the lowest market rates.

Fine Photographs.

Mr. J. A. Gonsalves has during the past few months taken some fine views in and around Honolulu, which would be a credit to an old hand at the business. Among his collection are some very fine views of Diamond Head, the burnt district, and many other points of interest in and around town. Mr. Gonsalves expects shortly to put his photographs on sale, and persons leaving Honolulu, and wishing to carry away something to remind them of old scenes in after years, would do well to inspect these views.

Pearl River Harbor.

Mr. Thos. G. Thurm has sent to the office of this paper a handsome chart of the "South side of Oahu," prepared by the Hydrographic Bureau at Washington, D. C., and giving a clear and detailed view of Pearl River Harbor, the city of Honolulu, and its environs. The chart is of especial interest just now when the question of the occupancy of Pearl Harbor by a foreign power has been brought forward. Copies of the chart can be obtained at Thurm's store on Fort street.

Lewis & Co.

Messrs. Lewis & Co., who a short time ago moved into the store formerly occupied by C. E. Williams, on Fort street, have one of the finest appearing and best selected stores in Honolulu. This firm receive fresh consignments of goods by every steamer from Francisco, and during the fruit season they receive fresh fruit of every description, shipped on ice, which is as good on arrival here as when first picked. They also receive fresh fish, California vegetables, etc.

First Appearance of Prof. Anderson.

A large audience greeted the famous Professor Anderson at the Hawaiian Opera House last night. Both the royal box and the one opposite were occupied, the main house was filled and the gallery was crowded from the rail to the wall—it seemed as if everybody was out to see the "great Wizard of the North" and his not less skillful wife.

The programme was divided into three parts, all of which were most dexterously performed to a well satisfied and deeply interested audience, who frequently interrupted the Professor with bursts of applause.

The curtain rose on the Wizard's enchanted den, which certainly had a weird and witch-like appearance. The stage contained a sample of every tool used in the oft heard of black art and only lacked the veritable horns, tail and hoofs, to convert the place in the imagination at least, into the spectral realm of "old Nick" himself.

It would simply be impossible to describe every trick performed, but some of the more noticeable were as follows: An automaton drew a pencil portrait of the King; cards selected from a pack were made to rise from a crystal houl-ette and were also fired from a pistol to reappear upon the point of a distant star; flowers were grown in the space of a half minute at the dictation of persons in the audience; goldfish were produced and reproduced in the very midst of the audience from under a scarf; in glass dishes filled with water; the Professor's wife was placed in a mesmeric trance and revealed the names written on scraps of paper by the audience; while blindfolded Mrs. Anderson sitting on the stage with her back to the Professor, who stood in the audience, would reproduce numbers secretly whispered to the master of the art.

In the second part of the performance the wonders of spirit rapping and communion with the dead were exhibited under a glass of gas light. Spirit faces appeared in the wonderful cabinet, which the Professor would immediately throw open and revealed empty. The spirits played upon a violin placed in the cabinet as well as upon the nerves of those present. A prominent dealer in spirits was noticed to leave the house at the most interesting point of the seance.

Part third included an exhibition of the art of table lifting and table floating, after which the Professor showed Col. Spreckels, who occupied the right hand box, the lordly art of making money without work. Hon. Samuel Parker was the only person, however, who profited by the experiment; he was seen to take a half dollar out of the lining of his hat when the Professor handed it back.

The performance concluded with the wonderful Indian basket feat, as performed in India. This was undoubtedly the best piece oflegerdemain of the evening and will more than likely continue the mystery it has remained for so many years—to the general public at least. The trick will be repeated at the next performance together with several new tricks.

It may be of interest to state that the "vanishing bird cage" trick was explained some time since in the columns of this paper. The Professor will give amatees Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at which there will be no pistol firing. The second regular performance will be given next Saturday night.

To-night's Recitals.

Mr. Locke Richardson will give the first of his series of recitals at the Y. M. C. A. Hall this evening. The programme consists of some fine selections among which are "A Christmas Carol," by Charles Dickens, and "King Robert of Sicily," by Longfellow. The New York press in speaking of Mr. Richardson's recital of "King Robert of Sicily" says:

The recital of "King Robert of Sicily," given by Mr. Locke Richardson at the Academy of Music last Saturday night, on the occasion of the Poe Monument performance, is, by common consent of all who heard it, recorded as one of the most successful pieces of elocution and of poetic interpretation ever known in this capital.

The recitals will begin at 7:45 o'clock sharp.

They Say:

That the Legislature wanted to take a summer vacation on account of committees yesterday evening; that the Finance Committee seems to be pulling back for some reason; that our "popular" (?) contemporary is twenty-four hours behind the Legislature in its reports; that such enterprise is what makes the paper so popular; that the eminent Road Supervisor called on the Minister of the Interior yesterday to ask advice about street grades; that the only advice needed is for said R. S. to use a little common sense and stop running the road ways up and down hill in level places; that the "only Dickey" called the President of the House to order yesterday afternoon; that the member from "Zip" is staying awake o' nights studying up spiteful things to write about other members who are not Opposition; that the independent feeling is spreading very rapidly in places where it was expected to languish and die; that the next week will develop some new political phases in the Legislature; that one of these will be the strength of the independent vote; that the taro flour act appears in another column; that somebody was mad yesterday; that "When the Mango begins to Fall" will be the title of a new Hawaiian song; that the natives say Professor Anderson is the Akua himself; that the professional balloonist ought to take advantage of the present wind and come to Honolulu in his air-ship; and that this is panu.

CALIFORNIA WINES.

The growth and manufacture of pure wines in California has surprised the most sanguine. Although small manufacturers, through combined ignorance and carelessness, turn out inferior wines, it has been the ambition of to manufacture wines that are absolutely pure, and the only house in California that manufactures pure Champagnes produced by the natural process of fermentation in the bottle.

The importation of MESSRS. ARPAD HARASZTHY & CO.'S wines into this Kingdom, from October 7th, 1885, to March 31st, 1886, being nearly two-thirds of all other manufactures put together, is a guaranty of their popularity, and that they are far superior to any wines manufactured.

Taro Flour! Taro Flour! Taro Flour!

Highly recommended by physicians, and used by everybody. A boon to the sick and convalescent. A valuable article of diet for the healthy. Poi made from this flour possesses cleanliness never found in ordinary poi.

It makes by far the best mush. Taro cakes, muffins, rolls, bread, griddle cakes, gems, and puddings of unrivalled excellence can be made as readily from this as from ordinary flour.

FOR SALE BY ALL GROCERS.

DIRECTIONS FOR MAKING POI.—Take the desired amount of flour and mix very thin with cold water, being sure there are no lumps. Confine this in a bag of cloth and place in a kettle of boiling water, and let it continue to boil 1½ to 2 hours, until cooled. When done (white warm) stir with a stout spoon, adding a little water until the whole is well mixed. Let this stand from 5 to 6 hours. Then add water in small quantities, mixing thoroughly and kneading until the desired consistency is obtained. Owing to its great purity it will take from 3 to 4 days to become acid or sour.
